

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

The invention discloses a new kid-power entertainment car consisting of a car body, a driving triangular base, a steering shaft, a steering wheel, and two rear wheels. The invention discloses a new design with greater safety for this type of toy cars. It comprises mounting auxiliary wheel(s) at the end of the front arm of the driving triangular base, adding a safe seating base at the top of the rear end the car body. Most importantly, the invention discloses a unique method to integrate the driving triangular base with the steering shaft. This invention also discloses a complete design with photos.